OBITUARY
ZORA JANŽEKOVIČ (September 30, 1918 – March 17, 2015)

by step she worked her way through adversity and experiences in the hospital in Maribor.
Of the many honours and tributes, which eventually were bestowed upon her, she observed laconically and sincerely: “I am pleased of course”. The fact that the first ever Zora Janžekovič Award, “The Golden Razor” of the European Club for Paediatric Burns, was awarded to her (Seggau/Leibnitz, Austria, 2007) and that through this Award her name and achievements will live on through many future recipients, was a source of great pride and delight to her.

Anyone seeing Zora Janžekovič sitting in a chair on the patio of her retirement-home on the south face of the Pohorje Mountains, anyone talking to her there, would sense that Zora had achieved something else which was more subtle after such a stormy life. Zora Janžekovič had managed to make peace with herself, as she explained several times in her autobiography (ZORA JANŽEKOVIČ Getting to the Top of the Burn Surgery with a razor by Marija Trop / Clemens Schiestl).

During the celebration of her 90th birthday she spoke her parting words to her friends and colleagues: “At 90 years old I can say: My life was worth having been lived.”
It ended on the 17th March, 2015. The value of her life and work will resonate and enlighten for many years to come.
