Donor skin is a temporary biological coverage with angiogenic and granulating effects. It can be used not only for burns or acute wounds but is also suitable for the treatment of chronic and problematic wounds.

Now available for dermal restoration: Glycerol preserved acellular dermis, Glyaderm®, intended to improve scar quality in burn surgery and plastic and reconstructive surgery.